DON BOSCO COLLEGE STUDENTS INITIATE CHARITY THROUGH LUCKY DRAW

Compassionate students from Don Bosco College has come together to establish a remarkable charity initiative. With a strong commitment to helping those in need, these young changemakers have devised a lucky draw fundraiser, making philanthropy accessible to the wider community.

The students raise funds by selling lucky draw coupons, priced affordably at just ₹20 each. To ensure widespread participation, a large number of coupon booklets—each containing 50 coupons (₹1,000 per booklet)—are printed and distributed among students, staff, and teachers. These booklets are then sold to the public, generating a significant amount of funds for charity.

Each coupon is assigned a unique code, which is recorded by the students and handed over to the respective teachers for transparency and tracking.

The much-awaited lucky draw event is conducted annually on February 5. On this day, winners are selected randomly and rewarded with exciting prizes as per the details mentioned on the coupon. The event not only brings joy to the lucky winners but also encourages more people to participate in future fundraising efforts. The most inspiring aspect of this initiative is how the funds are utilized. The money collected from the coupon sales is dedicated to helping people who approach the college for assistance. To ensure fairness and genuine support, students are sent to visit the individuals in need, assess their situations, and verify their requests. Based on the evaluation, the required financial aid is provided.

This thoughtful approach guarantees that the funds are used transparently and effectively, directly impacting those who need them the most.

The Don Bosco College students' charity initiative is a shining example of youth-led social responsibility. Their selfless efforts prove that even small contributions can create a big impact when combined with the spirit of generosity. By involving the community in their mission, these students are not just raising funds—they are building a culture of kindness and compassion.

With initiatives like this, the future looks brighter, not just for those in need, but for society as a whole. Kudos to the students of Don Bosco College for their inspiring efforts!

The lucky draw fundraiser initiated by the compassionate students of Don Bosco College is more than just a charitable event—it is a testament to the power of youth-driven change and community solidarity. FYUGP: A Transformative Step in Higher Education

The University of Kerala's recent introduction of the Four-Year Undergraduate Programme (FYUGP) marks a significant shift in the higher education landscape. Aligned with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, this initiative aims to enhance flexibility, multidisciplinary learning, and global competitiveness, offering students a more enriching academic experience. This structure accommodates a wide range of student aspirations, providing them with greater control over their education. The curriculum is another notable aspect. Designed to promote interdisciplinary learning and research, it integrates foundation courses, major and minor subjects, internships, and research projects. This not only equips students with a strong knowledge base
